SOCIAL SECURITY DISABILITY

Marasco & Nesselbush Helps Protect You When the Unexpected Happens

Life is unpredictable and when the unexpected happens, Marasco & Nesselbush's Social Security Legal Team is here to protect your rights should you become disabled. Our client "Francesca" was emotionally shattered when she was unexpectedly assaulted on the job. She tried to continue working but her coworkers said she was "not the same anymore". Eventually, Francesca's boss suggested she seek medical advice. Francesca was diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder and taken out of work by her psychiatrist. When she filed her application for Social Security benefits, Francesca was unfortunately denied at both the initial and reconsideration levels. Soon thereafter, she contacted Marasco & Nesselbush, and Managing Attorney Mariam Lavoie won full retroactive benefits for Francesca.

Another one of our clients, "Peter", was denied benefits 14 months after he filed his application. Peter was forced to leave his long-term job as a tractor trailer driver due to severe back pain that eventually required surgery. He filed for Social Security Disability benefits when it was clear he would not be able to return to work and the surgery did not resolve his back pain. Our legal team encouraged Peter to renew his application and continue to fight. With our help, Peter's new application was approved at the initial phase without the need for a second hearing.

MEDICAL MALPRACTICE

Obstetrical Negligence Litigation Results in $900,000 Award

Marasco and Nesselbush partner, Joseph Marasco, and Associate Attorney, Tim Lynch, recently resolved a medical negligence case on behalf of a client who became infertile as a result of her obstetrician's negligence. The case involved the failure to diagnose retained placental tissue after our client delivered her first child. Our client went on to develop a condition called Asherman's Syndrome, which ultimately resulted in infertility.

The defendant doctor and his legal team argued that the doctor complied with the appropriate standard of care and our client's condition was not a result of the doctor's care. The doctor's experts were prepared to testify that the doctor did all that was required. Our firm could prove otherwise and retained extraordinary

CECILIA SANTOS

Intake Assistant Honored as Employee of the Quarter

Marasco & Nesselbush is proud to recognize Cecilia Santos (“Ceci”) as our Employee of the Quarter for the second quarter of 2016. Our employees show compassion, kindness, innovation and a willingness to go above and beyond for our clients, and Ceci is no exception. After working for a large New York City law firm, Ceci joined us in March 2012 as an Intake Legal Assistant in the Social Security Department and immediately started adding value to our team. Ceci was attracted to our family oriented culture, loves that she can make a difference and takes pride in being part of a team that serves the injured and disabled. Ceci is originally from the Dominican Republic and graduated from Assumption College with a Bachelor's degree in Spanish and Latin American Studies. When Ceci is not working, she enjoys traveling and spending time with her family, which includes her loveable dog Biscuit. We congratulate Cecilia on her achievement and give thanks for her continued dedicated service!

Marasco & Nesselbush ATTORNEY SPOTLIGHT

We welcome Amanda, Tom and Valerie to our Marasco & Nesselbush family!

Marasco & Nesselbush strives to provide all of our clients with the utmost care and respect while also achieving extraordinary results. We cannot do this without talented, dedicated lawyers. We are excited to share that our legal team has grown with the addition of Amanda Briggs and Valerie Diaz in our Social Security Department and Thomas Moran in our Personal Injury and Medical Malpractice Department.

AMANDA BRIGGS

Amanda Briggs earned her law degree from the University of Massachusetts School of Law (Dartmouth) and is passionate about helping the injured and disabled get the benefits they deserve in order to get their lives back in order. When Amanda is not working to protect her clients' rights, she enjoys dancing and spending time at the ocean.

THOMAS "TOM" MORAN

Thomas "Tom" Moran is a graduate of Providence College where he played Division I soccer, and a graduate of Roger Williams University School of Law. He is licensed to practice in three states – Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Tom has a competitive streak that has served him well both professionally and while he's playing soccer.

VALERIE DIAZ

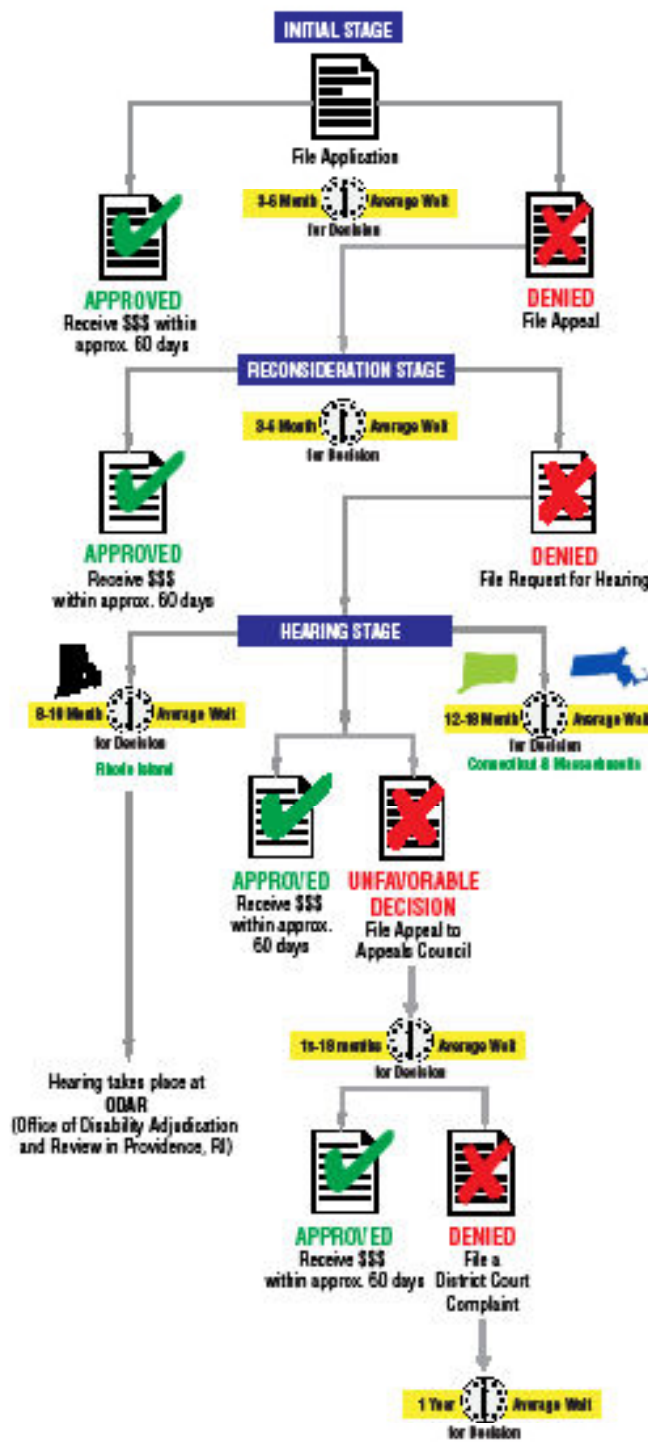

Valerie Diaz is also a graduate of Roger Williams University School of Law. From the time she was a young girl, Valerie knew she was meant to serve the public and help others, and this was confirmed for her after taking a constitutional law course in college. Valerie experienced our exceptional, world-class client care when she brought a family member's case to us, and this motivated her to join our firm.

experts to establish negligence and damages. On the eve of trial, after extensive litigation, the doctor chose to resolve the matter and avoid the risk of a jury trial. Had the trial proceeded, our legal team would likely have been successful due to the medical and legal developments and our exceptional experts. However, the choice to resolve the matter was in our client's best interest and in part based on the available insurance coverage.

“No amount of money can truly compensate our client for the loss she and her family sustained. But, we are thankful that the doctor and his insurance carrier were held accountable for his actions. Tim did an outstanding job developing the case,” said partner Joe Marasco.

Testimonial

“This is the third time for me using this law firm. They successfully got me awarded social security benefits, and won both my insurance claims. I wouldn't even consider another firm to handle any future assistance I may need. Thank you so much Marasco & Nesselbush. Outstanding job. I feel like a true family member. I will always recommend everyone to Marasco & Nesselbush. I love you all.”
