Walking Team Supports the Brain Injury Association of Rhode Island at Colt State Park

A rainy Sunday did not stop Marasco & Nesselbush's employees from supporting the Brain Injury Association of Rhode Island at Colt State Park on Sunday, June 5. Our 30-person walking team cheerfully trekked the three miles to raise money and awareness for survivors of traumatic brain injuries. We wholeheartedly support the Brain Injury Association of Rhode Island in their mission to both prevent brain injury and to enhance the lives of those impacted by brain injury.

MEDICAL MALPRACTICE

Recovery Obtained for Breast Cancer Survivor After Failure to Diagnose

Marasco & Nesselbush Senior Trial Counsel Mark Grimm achieved a confidential settlement on behalf of a breast cancer survivor after two different radiologists failed to diagnose her cancer. When our client first felt a lump in her breast, she immediately requested a mammogram and ultrasound. After reviewing the images and identifying the lump, the defendant radiologist reported that the lump was "probably benign". The radiologist did not recommend a biopsy. Instead, the recommendation was to return for a follow-up mammogram in six months. The second mammogram was performed six months later and reviewed by a different radiologist. Again, it was reported that the lesion was "probably benign." Once again, only follow-up was suggested, with no recommendation for a biopsy. A third mammogram was performed six months later and this time a biopsy was recommended, Marasco & Nesselbush is proud to recognize an Employee of the Quarter for the first quarter of 2016 whose work and dedication reflects the firm's reputation for outstanding client satisfaction and exceptional, trusted legal care. Heather Jennison, a Legal Assistant in our Personal Injury and Medical Malpractice group, joined us in 2013. Heather's interest in the law was peaked after taking a youth and law course in high school and now has over 13 years of experience working in law firms. "I enjoy working for such a family-oriented law firm that puts the client's need first", said Heather. Since Heather's arrival three years ago, she has become an integral part of our personal injury team, and a go-to person for attorneys and staff members alike. Joseph Marasco, co-founder of Marasco & Nesselbush, describes Heather as "an incredibly dedicated and loyal paralegal." "She is meticulous with her work. Above all else, she is caring and loved by her clients. We are blessed to have her as part of our team." We congratulate Heather on her achievement and thank Heather for her dedicated service.

"IN MATTERS OF TRUTH AND JUSTICE, THERE IS NO DIFFERENCE BETWEEN LARGE AND SMALL PROBLEMS, FOR ISSUES CONCERNING THE TREATMENT OF PEOPLE ARE ALL THE SAME."

as the lesion had increased in size. The patient was diagnosed with breast cancer and had to undergo a lumpectomy to remove the tumor. Since the cancer had spread to her lymph nodes, she also had to undergo numerous courses of chemotherapy. After extensive litigation and discovery, Attorney Grimm was able to establish that both of the earlier mammograms were negligently misread by the radiologists, and that a proper review of the films revealed that the lesion should have been biopsied. Had our client undergone a biopsy at the time of her first mammogram, the cancer would have been diagnosed early enough so that the patient would not have had to undergo months of painful and debilitating chemotherapy treatment.
