Seven Marasco & Nesselbush Attorneys Named to Rhode Island Monthly's Professional Excellence in Law

Seven Marasco & Nesselbush attorneys, Joseph Marasco, Donna Nesselbush, Mark Grimm, Jane Duket, Timothy Lynch, Thomas Moran, and Douglas Chabot have recently been selected to be included in Rhode Island's Professional Excellence in Law published by Rhode Island Monthly.

Attorneys were selected based on several criteria ranging from peer reviews, feedback from professionals in related fields, professional standing, and other data collected by a third-party survey and data company. "It is a great honor to have seven of our attorneys recognized by our brother and sister attorneys in Rhode Island," said partner Joseph Marasco.

Rhode Island Monthly asked Rhode Island licensed lawyers to vote for their peers in a range of law practice areas. Rhode Island Monthly contracted DataJoe Research to conduct the survey using an online ballot for collecting, vetting, and tallying votes. Any lawyer who has been disciplined for an infraction by the state regulatory board was excluded from the results.

Marasco & Nesselbush has earned a well-deserved reputation for providing trusted legal care while achieving extraordinary results. The firm's award-winning team has resolved thousands of personal injury and medical negligence cases, achieving many multi-million-dollar recoveries for families who face serious life-altering injuries.

Timothy Lynch Named to Board of Governors for RI Association for Justice

Timothy Lynch, an attorney with Marasco & Nesselbush, LLP, has been named to the Board of Governors for the Rhode Island Association for Justice (RIAJ). Tim is a senior member of the firm's personal injury and medical malpractice group.

Founded in 1970, the Rhode Island Association for Justice (formerly the Rhode Island Trial Lawyers Association) represents 400 attorneys who are committed to strengthening the civil justice system by protecting citizens' access to jury trials and opposing efforts to impose arbitrary caps on jury awards. In advancing its mission, the RIAJ works to ensure that any person who is injured or the survivors of those killed due to the misconduct or negligence of others can seek full justice in the courtroom.

Rachel Jackson Employee of the Quarter

Marasco & Nesselbush is proud to recognize Rachel Jackson as Employee of the Quarter for Q1. Rachel joined the firm in 2020 as a Legal Assistant. Diligent and driven, she worked her way up to Team Lead where her comprehensive legal knowledge and expert communication skills help guide and motivate a successful department.

In her spare time, Rachel enjoys playing rugby, spending time with friends and family, and lounging with her kitten, Bones.
