DONNA NESSELBUSH is a co-founder of Marasco & Nesselbush, a firm dedicated to helping the injured and disabled. Throughout her career, Donna has received several professional recognitions, beginning with the Sarah Doyle Prize, which she was awarded upon graduating from Brown University for having made a significant contribution to women on campus and in the community. Donna is the founder and Chair of the Rhode Island Bar Association’s Social Security Disability Committee, and she is a “Sustaining Member” of the National Organization of Social Security Claimants’ Representatives. As the Executive Director of the Rhode Island Coalition Against Domestic Violence, she spearheaded several avant-garde initiatives in the courthouse and the State House. Donna is a member of the American and Rhode Island Associations for Justice, the first ‘Person of the Year’ to be inducted into the Pawtucket, Rhode Island Hall of Fame, and the recipient of the Ada Sawyer Award from the Rhode Island Women’s Bar Association for her work as a Rhode Island Senator in passing Rhode Island’s Marriage Equality Law. Last year, Donna received national recognition with the Eileen P. Sweeny Distinguished Service Award. In addition to being a founding partner of Marasco & Nesselbush, Donna serves as the Chief Judge of the Pawtucket Municipal Court, and she was a Rhode Island State Senator for ten years from 2010 to 2020.

NICKLYN DOLPHIN is the managing associate attorney of the disability practice area at Marasco & Nesselbush. Nicki strives to help her clients and their families during difficult and vulnerable times. Her previous work experience with an indigent population resulted in experiences that made her cognizant of the difficulties facing individuals with limited means and the impact it can have on all aspects of an individual’s life. Her experience as the executive assistant for the chief of medicine and chief of nursing at Harvard University gave her a keen appreciation for the complications of our healthcare system. Nicklyn graduated with honors from Franklin & Marshall College in 2004 and New England School of Law in 2011, where she finished in the top ten percent of her class and was an editor at the New England Law Review. She is admitted to practice law in Massachusetts.
